DREAM JEWELS

A collector's eye.

AS A NATIVE NEW YORKER, HARRY WINSTON WAS CAPTIVATED by the city's glamour, vibrant energy, and possibilities. At 12 he purchased his first jewel—a two-carat emerald for 25 cents at a pawnshop—which he sold for $800. That was the start of his passionate pursuit of the world's most important diamonds and jewels.

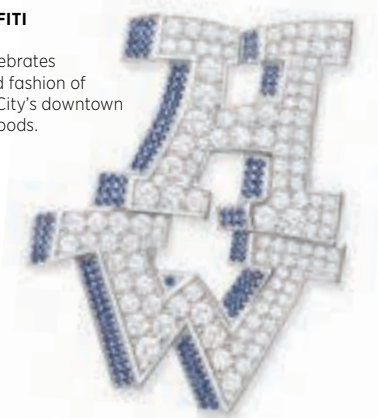

In celebration of the city that influenced Mr. Winston, the house created the New York Collection featuring exceptional stones in defining designs that echo the city's streamlined architecture and alluring spirit. From a vibrant necklace of emeralds, sapphires, and rubies to bright, bold timepieces, these jewels have the power to inspire dreams, imagination, and a new enthusiasm for life. A personal assemblage of these special pieces can reflect so much of us: our sense of style, our femininity, our complex personalities. Why wait for a special occasion to discover your next dream piece?

LASTING LEGACY

A timeless Winston treasure.

HARRY WINSTON WAS A MAN COMMITTED TO HIS CRAFT. Passionate and intuitive, he had a remarkable and innate eye for selecting the most exceptional stones. He was rumored to carry a handful of loose diamonds in his suit pocket wherever he went, and he would roll them between his fingers, as much for the sheer joy in their presence as for the inspiration they gave him.

Today, this passion lives on at the House of Harry Winston. Just like the King of Diamonds back then, the company's international team of gemologists hand-selects every diamond and gemstone—and only the very best make the cut. Each stone is masterfully set in artistic designs such as the Winston Cluster, a first-of-its-kind arrangement of diamonds embraced within a nearly invisible platinum setting. A signature of the House, the Cluster remains a powerful statement to this day.

Every Winston jewel expresses a sense of optimism, a knowingness that it's something you will cherish today and every day until you pass it on to the next generation. The Winston signature is instantly recognized as a top-quality jewel, an investment that delivers personal dividends—and instant gratification.

SIGNATURE STYLE

Your personal talisman.

FROM THE START, HARRY WINSTON WAS A VISIONARY, revered for his ageless pieces that were ahead of their time, boldly elegant and amazingly graceful. Whimsical designs such as the Forget-Me-Not marry Winston's affinity for nature with vibrant pear-shaped rubies, pink and blue sapphires, and marquise diamonds in stylish floral pieces that appeal to every generation.

Classic Winston creations—the blooming Sunflower, the lyrical Winston Gates, the playful Lily Cluster—are all statements that can be made everyday essentials that you can live in from the office to the gym and out for the evening.

For many, that memorable first Winston piece is a solitaire pendant or a floral ring. For others, it's an engagement ring they will cherish forever. Just as meaningful are the pieces you buy for yourself: The personal expressions that make you unique, the special designs that show the world who you are, and the investments that last a lifetime and beyond.
